

Beware of Free Inspections and/or Free Repairs!

We have all heard the saying, “There is no free lunch.” Well, that saying is as true today as it’s ever been.

Wildlife companies that tell you they will do a “free inspection” or a “free animal removal” with the repairs are simply adding it into the price somewhere. It could be a large set-up fee or a larger than normal repair job price. They have to make up the cost somewhere to make it appear to be free!

We would like to tell you, “Yes! We can do it for free,” but that would simply not be the truth. Why not just pay for what you are getting and have your problem completely solved and be satisfied? That is what you would do for any other service that would come to your home. Does the plumber tell you that he will fix one pipe and the next one is free? I think not!

Some companies will tell you anything to get your business. We would rather tell you the “real” cost to control your wildlife problems, than to try and entice you by offering “free stuff” that’s not really free at all.
